

A Parent Newsletter for the Preschool Classroom
March 2023

Hello Families,

Welcome to March! It's hard to believe that Spring will be here in a matter of weeks and we couldn't be more excited. Hopefully the snow and cold weather will go away so we can start working on getting our garden ready! The preschoolers will get to go into the garden in small groups and begin exploring...there are always bugs to be found and lots of questions about planting. We are always in need of child friendly garden tools and seeds and plants. If you are interested in donating items please send me a message on BrightWheel and I can let you know what we need.

We are diving into exploring our 5 senses! We have been doing some messy projects exploring our sense of touch. Later in the month we are going to explore our sense of taste and get to eat some yummy treats!

We are almost out of the sick season! There have been some pretty yucky colds going through preschool. Please remember to keep your child home if they are not feeling well. This helps keep other children and teachers healthy.

As the weather continues to improve we will be aiming to go on one walk each week around the park loop, so please be sure your child comes to school in comfortable walking shoes. Wishing you all a wonderful March!

-Sara
